STUNNED: Meadow Primary School early years teacher Faye Facer with pupils after receiving her Silver Pearson Teaching Award

Top class award for teacher Faye

A TEACHER who has transformed the learning environment has been recognised with a prestigious award.

Faye Facer, head of reception at Meadow Primary School in Balsham, has been awarded a silver Pearson Teaching Award, and is a national finalist for Teacher of the Year.

Headteacher Nicola Connor surprised Faye by presenting her with the silver award at school.

Faye, originally from Wales, began her teaching career at the school four years ago as a newly-qualified teacher (NQT).

She is one of just 56 winners selected from thousands of nominations to be recognised in the UK's 'Oscars for Teachers'.

The Pearson Teaching Awards are an annual celebration of exceptional teachers, created to recognise the life-changing impact an inspirational teacher can have on the lives of the young people they teach.

Nicola said: "Faye was nominated by one of our parents for the teacher of the year award."

"It has been a really rigorous process. I was asked to complete a lengthy form about Faye."

"After that, on May 5, she was paid a visit by three members of the national teaching awards panel, who observed her teaching, spoke to her, her colleagues, and interviewed some of her current and former pupils. It was an intense day for her!"

"I eventually got a phone call from them saying that she had won a silver award, and would therefore be going through to the national finals on October 22, which will be broadcast by the BBC."

Faye said: "I think more than anything I am absolutely shocked to have got this far. I was stunned when Nicola gave me the news."

"When I found out I had been nominated it was very overwhelming, but I also feel almost embarrassed because I don't work any harder than any of the teachers I know."

"The parent who nominated me is also a teacher, and I think she had been watching me teach for quite a while."

"She actually requested that her son be put in my class and was really pleased with the amount of work we have done with him."

"It is really lovely to be nominated, let alone to get this far. It is great that people are recognising teachers for doing super things."

"Teaching is not really a career you go in to to get awards. Being recognised is above and beyond my expectations."

Nicola added: "We are just all immensely proud of Faye. There are thousands of entries every year and it's a huge achievement."

CRIME

Police appeal after vandalism and theft spree

VANDALS and thieves have been at work in Haverhill, according to latest police information.

Two reports of criminal damage and three reports of theft from a motor vehicle made up the crime over the last 10 days.

Number plates from a Hyundai i-20 were stolen overnight between June 15 at 10:30pm and June 16 at 8am. The car was parked in Couplands Close in Haverhill when the plates were taken.

Meanwhile, between 3-3.45pm on June 19 number plates were stolen from a red Suzuki Swift parked in the Tesco car park in Haverhill.

Thieves also stole copper piping worth £250 from the roof rack of a Vauxhall Combo van. The piping was stolen between 5.30pm on June 21 and 6am on June 22, while parked in Greenfields Way.

In Woodcock Close, a driver side window was snapped off a silver Vauxhall Corsa between 11.45pm and midnight on June 24.

Brownies cafe in Haverhill was also the victim of criminal damage with damage being caused to a fence and padlock on the premises between June 6 and June 18.

Suffolk Police are appealing for witnesses and anyone with information about these crimes should contact them on 101.

ANNA SAVVA
@AnnaSavvaCN

A HAVERHILL man who killed a van driver in a five-vehicle crash last December has been sentenced to six years in prison.

Stephen James, 47, of Park-side, was three times over the drink-drive limit, and running late for work as a petrol tanker driver, when he collided head on with a Vauxhall Vivaro causing a pile-up involving a Vauxhall Corsa, Vauxhall Corsa van and a lorry.

He pleaded guilty at Peterborough Crown Court last Thursday to causing death and serious injury by dangerous driving.

The driver of the Vauxhall Corsa, 60-year-old Keith Howlett, of Mill Lane, Wisbech, suffered fatal injuries and died at the scene.

The drivers of the Vauxhall Vivaro and lorry both suffered serious life-changing injuries and the driver of the other Vauxhall was left unable to work.

This was far more than a momentary lapse in concentration in my judgement

Judge Sean Enright

SENTENCED: Stephen James caused death by dangerous driving

James was sentenced to six years – and two years concurrent – and was disqualified from driving for 10 years.

He was driving without insurance at the time of the crash – which took place on the A142 near Mepal at 5.58am on December 20 – which the judge described as an “aggravating factor.”

Judge Sean Enright said his sentence was reduced by one year because James expressed remorse for what had happened.

Sentencing James, he said he was “a functioning alcoholic who minimised how much he had to drink.”

“This was far more than a momentary lapse in concentration in my judgement. The likely levels of alcohol were 235mg when you started driving and 207mg at the time of the incident.

VAN DRIVER: Keith Howlett died on December 20 in a fatal five vehicle pile-up

“The evidence is overwhelming – the DVD [evidence] tells it all.

“The appropriate sentence is based on the value society puts on the life of the deceased.

“Rules are for the safety of the driver and others – you must go with the officer,” he said.

The incident occurred five days before Christmas. A police forensics officer told the News James had been drinking the night before he set off to work, at just past 4am.

Watching proceedings were victims and members of the families affected by the crash. They held hands and audibly gasped when the sentence was passed.

FIRE

Pupils distraught after arson attack at school

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

PUPILS have been left "distracted" after a beloved outdoor classroom at Clements Primary Academy was destroyed following an arson attack.

The classroom, known as "The Hideaway", was used for clubs and other activities and was nestled away in the wooden area behind the school.

Suffolk Fire and Rescue were called to the fire at 23:32 on Sunday to reports of a fire at the Clements Primary Academy site in Greenfields Way, where a large wooden structure was on fire.

Sam Gallacher, acting headteacher at the school, said: "We can confirm there was a fire in our outdoor classroom in the early hours of Monday morning and the classroom was destroyed."

"It is situated away from the main school building, which was not affected. The outdoor classroom was a valuable resource in our teaching of the environment and woodland – and staff and students are distraught."

"Suffolk Fire Service attended the incident and put the fire out and we would like to thank the firefighters who attended."

"Staff, students and pupils at Clements Primary Academy are deeply heartened by the fact that a fundraising appeal has started in the wake of the fire."

"It further underlines the special place the school has in our community."

Two engines attended but the cause of the fire is currently unknown. Suffolk Police confirmed they are treating the fire as arson.

A spokesperson for Suffolk Police said: "Suffolk Police were called at 23:53pm on Sunday following reports of a fire."

"The fire was believed to be affecting a wooden band stand/gazebo style structure in a wooden area at the rear of the school on Greenfields Way in Haverhill."

"Police are treating the fire as suspicious, believed to be started deliberately. We are classing the crime as arson."

"We are interested in speaking to witnesses in the area at the time, very late evening on Sunday, June 25 around or just before or after midnight," said a spokesperson from Suffolk Police.

Anyone with information should contact Suffolk Police on 101 quoting CAD number 17 of Monday, June 26.

DESTROYED: The aftermath of an arson at an outdoor classroom at Clements Primary School, Haverhill

DEAR parents, carers and friends of Clements Primary Academy, We were all shocked and dispirited when we learned of the outdoor classroom fire as this badly impacts upon our use of our excellent campus and greatly reduces the opportunities for our lovely pupils.

However, immediately the great parents and friends of Clements have responded with magnificent gestures of help whether it is in the form of money, time, expertise or goodwill.

As a result we will set up a working party to look at our options to ensure our children continue to have great outdoor opportunities. We may need to build incombustible facilities but we will endeavour to do our best with staff and parents working together. May I say 'Thank You' and 'Well Done' for your support and generosity.

You are a great example to our children.

People have to use the city

I RESPOND to your article (News, June 24) in which Cllr Hipkin complains about visitor numbers.

It seems that some, perhaps well-heeled, residents would like to keep Cambridge for themselves.

I live in Haverhill. Owing to the lack of shopping facilities in my town, I have to travel to Cambridge or Bury St. Edmunds.

I drive along the increasingly congested A1307, a road which South Cambridgeshire council refuses to improve.

My nearest hospital is Addenbrooke's, also in Cambridge. Perhaps Mr Hipkin and his fellows in Suffolk would like to get together and find a way of improving my town, so I won't have to travel to wonderful Cambridge.

Make course a mini-Glasto

IT was unbelievable to read that at the Little Mix gig at Newmarket Nights, youngsters were injured as a result of drunkenness and just inconsideration.

Don't get me wrong the Newmarket Nights are very good. However, as they get better every year, there's more demand from the amount of people who attend. There doesn't seem to have been any efforts considered on adjustments to the amounts of people and traffic.

Apart from some modernisation, the course is the same as I've ever known. The parking area is spread over fields which only have one road in and out so traffic is a nightmare and, eventually, there's not enough room for the events to hold people to the level they've reached.

What I feel the Jockey Club should consider is to build a separate stage area away from the actual stadium to make it possible for guests to have more room, making Newmarket a mini-Glastonbury and perhaps also, for the traffic, to consider a development of a direct slip road and bridge from the A14 on to the course land to ease traffic on the B roads. Or easier, still use the Rowley Mile land in summer season for parking with shuttle buses to the July.

Who knows, but something is needed.

General public being let down

IN recent weeks since the general election we have seen how the Conservative government has been failing to look after the general public. The people who voted for them.

In big cities terrorists do what they like. They are known to the police who do not have the resources to control them. Our borders are leaking because there are not enough border police and our hospitals are struggling.

Meanwhile at Ascot the Royal Family, a very large family, enjoy themselves at our expense.

Locally, there is a violent crime in Newmarket on a weekly basis. The Conservatives closed the police station and there are no officers patrolling our streets.

Newmarket is a very well known town and it is full of many nationalities. A terrorist could walk down the High Street and not be noticed. We do not have any armed guards. Where is the nearest one? I know you will say Mildenhall, a short drive away.

How long does a terrorist need to carry out his awful work?

With regard to Mildenhall police, where were they when a stolen JCB ripped a cash dispenser out of Lloyds Bank in Lakenheath just a few miles away?

Back at Newmarket, the footpath opposite the monster concrete horsewalk on the Snailwell Road is now blocked on a daily basis by a builder's lorry. The cones put there by the much-loved Suffolk Highways are thrown in the hedge.

Please remind me, didn't a Conservative Suffolk county councillor say the concrete horsewalk would be dealt with and the footpath protected?

Don't scare the horses.

No welcome for US president

FOLLOWING the Manchester bombing, President Trump allowed sensitive intelligence information shared between the UK and US governments to be leaked to the American press, and after the terrorist attack in the London Bridge area of our capital he was highly critical of Sadiq Khan (London Mayor) for urging Londoners to stay calm, be reassured by the presence of armed police on the streets and carry on with business as normal.

In recent weeks Trump has also become the first American president not to reaffirm Article 5 of the NATO treaty and also has withdrawn the US from the Paris Climate Change deal, therefore becoming one of only three countries worldwide not to participate.

This means that despite our so called "special relationship" with the US, Trump has shown a complete lack of respect to the UK, stuck two fingers up to NATO and given a clear indication he doesn't give a stuff about the planet.

Arthur Roberts (Letters, February 15) advised us that Trump's state visit to the UK would take place in the summer and would involve him landing at the US base at Mildenhall and visiting Newmarket where arrangements should be made to welcome him.

Trump would then continue on to Madingley Road cemetery in Cambridge before visiting the Queen in London. When I queried (Letters, March 1) where this information had come from Mr Roberts sent a stinging reply (Letters, March 8) confirming this would all definitely happen on or around June 24, our 'Independence Day'.

Over the last few weeks it has been widely reported that Trump had informed Theresa May that he didn't want to come if there were to be protests against him, which clearly indicated he wasn't coming. There was no mention of his state visit in the Queen's Speech so that confirms that it won't happen for at least two years.

If and when Trump's state visit does take place, clearly it will not involve a long road trip from East Anglia to London as it would be impossible to provide the high level of security needed across open countryside.

I would suggest landing at Heathrow and then by helicopter to Buckingham Palace would be the most likely option.

If Trump is going to avoid all future protests against him it is quite likely he will become a recluse and never leave the White House again during his term of office regardless of how long or short that may be.

Finally, could I remind Mr Roberts that despite the views of his hero Nigel Farage, the UK doesn't have an Independence Day for the simple reason that the UK has always been independent and merely chose to be part of the EU for social and economic purposes. Over the next few years when we all become considerably worse off because of BREXIT perhaps June 23 will become known as National Disaster Day instead.

Tons of sobs from Brexit

SO now we know. Thanks to John Eoin Douglas (Letters, June 22), we have confirmed that "many of us" voted to leave the European Union because we wanted to bring back to everyday usage tons, hundredweights, stones, pounds and ounces.

I have some sympathy for that view for I was brought up with tons, hundredweights, stones, pounds and ounces, but the now-infamous June 2016 referendum was not about said tons, hundredweights, stones, pounds and ounces, it was about whether we, as a nation state, should continue to co-operate in peace and prosperity with our other near-neighbouring nation states with whom we have fought innumerable awful wars over the centuries.

During the referendum campaign, I met others who were keen on tons, hundredweights, stones, pounds and ounces. I found it difficult then to believe that some people could so misunderstand the issues. I now see proof that those same misunderstanding people are still amongst us.

I might add that I am not a "metric fetishist": I am merely an elderly person trying to keep up.

John Eoin Douglas ought to do the same.

Making calls to the elderly

AT Independent Age, the older people's charity, we're always trying to help as many older people as possible.

We want to encourage older people in the East of England who may be feeling lonely to get in touch with us to find out about our friendship services, which could help to reduce loneliness.

We have friendly, trained volunteers waiting to make regular calls to the people who need them.

Many of the older people we help have told us that it can make a huge difference to their wellbeing if they have a call to look forward to each week or fortnight.

Chronic loneliness can be really damaging to a person's health, so we hope to help make loneliness a thing of the past for East of England residents.

Older people who would like to receive regular calls from a volunteer can sign up at www.independentage.org/get-support/receive-regular-phone-calls-or-visits or by calling 0800 319 6789.

Fox culling is not effective

FOX hunting is a very relevant political topic at present, it is also important not to forget other horrors facing foxes in urban environments – namely culling by 'pest' controllers.

Animal Aid has been inundated by concerned members of the public who are horrified at news of urban foxes being culled near their homes. Foxes are generally trapped and shot.

What's even worse is that at this time of year, fox cubs are still reliant on their mothers to survive. If a mother fox is trapped and killed, her babies will starve to death.

Culling foxes is not only cruel, but ineffective. If a fox (or indeed a family of foxes) is killed, the vacant territory will quickly be taken over by new foxes – thus resulting in an endless cycle of trapping and culling. As such the government recommends the use of non-lethal, humane deterrence as the most effective way of resolving any conflicts one may be having with foxes.

Humane methods of deterrence are not only better for wildlife, but they are often cheaper in the long-term and satisfy everyone – those who do not want foxes to be unnecessarily killed, and those who do not want them on their property.

Animal Aid produces fact sheets on humane wildlife deterrence for foxes, birds, rats and mice, moles, and squirrels.

LOCAL AUTHORITY

Concern grows council merger 'could strangle Haverhill's voice'

A PROPOSED merger between Forest Heath District Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council has been branded an unstoppable force by Haverhill councillor Tony Brown.

Proposals for the new council have been put out for consultation to parish and town councils as well as the public, but Haverhill councillors are worried local democracy will be strangled.

Major concerns were raised at a town council meeting in Haverhill about representation being cut, Haverhill being isolated, residents being disenfranchised and worries about councillors with no knowledge of Haverhill making decisions on its behalf.

Speaking after the meeting, Cllr Tony Brown said: "It's like a snowball that starts at the top of the mountain and keeps going – it's hard to stop it or change direction".

Cllr Brown also voiced concerns that the new, larger council was being done purely as a cost-saving exercise.

He said: "Cost savings can be made, but not at the cost of local democracy."

The two councils already share services under the banner of West Suffolk, and the leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council John Griffiths called the new council "a logical step forward" when the proposal was announced at the start of May.

Cllr Brown said: "I agree with joint working, it's made huge savings, the government wants local councils to save huge amounts of money."

"But we see it every day in Haverhill, had cuts to police, had the front door of the police station closed, had children's clubs closed – it seems to all be about cuts now."

"How much more could be saved?"

"The actual savings would be negligible, the cost to local democracy will be huge. I'm not trying to knock the borough, they do a good job, but I have huge concerns over larger council."

The draft business plan for the combined council estimates that £800,000 worth of savings could be made.

Labour councillors Pat Hanlon, Maureen Byrnes and Liz Smith have also voiced concerns that the new council will strangle Haverhill's voice in local democracy.

Pat Hanlon speaking on behalf of the Town Council Labour Group, said: "It [the new council] will diminish Haverhill's voice because there will be too many councillors so the Boundary Commission will cut the number of Haverhill councillors and strangle our voice because the power of the Bury St Edmunds hub will be even louder, plus we will be the size of what Bury is now in years to come, this will mean our voice will diminish and be strangled even though we are and still will be the second largest town."

The town council was given the opportunity to comment on the proposals last Monday as part of a public consultation which will run online until the end of August.

Cllr Hanlon said: "There are currently 45 members on St Edmundsbury Borough Council, and 27 on Forest Heath District Council. At district council level 72 members the Boundary Commission would look at this and would be likely to reduce it to a more manageable number, this will mean less Councillors for Haverhill and less representation an affront to democracy for our people of Haverhill."

A spokesman for St Edmundsbury Borough council said: "Should our councils proceed with these proposals, a further decision will need to be made on the number of councillors required by the new council."

The Boundary Commission will be reviewing both council's wards regardless of whether the single council goes ahead.

St Edmundsbury also said a new council would "drive prosperity and jobs" and meet "the financial challenge of reduced government funding".

The spokesman added: "Residents, businesses, partners and local groups have already been having their say as part of the engagement which runs until the end of August, giving people more than two months to have their say. The engagement cannot be carried out later due to the legislation and to make sure Government can process any order so that elections can take place in 2019."

Residents can have their say at the West Suffolk website.

COURT

SENTENCED:
Raymond Read

Jail for pervert hunted by vigilantes

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

A PAEDOPHILE who was hunted down by a vigilante group after trying to meet a 15-year-old girl has been jailed.

Raymond Read, 58, of Burton End, Haverhill, was trapped by the group which targets sex offenders after he arranged to meet what he thought was a 15-year-old girl in Cambridge in December last year.

Read pleaded guilty to attempting to meet a child after sexual grooming at Ipswich Crown Court on Tuesday.

The court heard that Read had travelled to Cambridge after arranging a meeting in December with what he believed to be a 15-year-old girl but was then subjected to a citizens arrest by members of the vigilante group.

Prosecuting, Simon Gladwell said the group had used a fake online profile to chat with Read, who was unaware that the 'girl' he had spoken to about sex was not real.

When questioned by police, Read claimed to have known that the profile of the girl was not real.

Judge John Devaux sentenced Read, who appeared in court via a video link from prison, to 14 months in prison and ordered him to sign the sexual offences register for 10 years.

Appearing for Read, Edward Renvoize said his client was a lonely man with few interests who had turned to the internet.

ARMED FORCES DAY

Chance for town to show its tanks

RACHAEL MCMENEMY

@rach_mc94CN

HAVERHILL'S mayor and deputy mayor took to the High Street in an armoured vehicle on Saturday.

The daring duo looked like a thunderbirds reenactment with deputy mayor Tony Brown taking control of the 1954 Daimler Ferret vehicle as mayor David Roach took up position at the rear.

The armoured vehicle belongs to Cllr Brown who is a collector of military memorabilia.

The unusual sight was part of the town's 1940s themed Armed Forces Day celebrations, the second year in a row the town has put on such a display.

Hundreds of people turned out to take part and watch the events which also included marching bands, music, military vehicles, exhibitions, armed forces cadet groups and more.

Talking before the event Nick Keeble, arts and leisure manager at Haverhill Town Council, said: "It's the second time we have run the event and it was successful last year.

"Next year is going to be the 100th anniversary of the end of the First World War, so it seemed suitable to have a Second World War-themed event this year."

ADDING AN EXTRA ROOM TO YOUR HOME

As long as they're useable in all weathers, conservatories are a good way to increase your living space and bring the outside in

1. Conservatories can be used as sitting rooms, playrooms, dining rooms, dens or multifunctional spaces, and can be cheaper than building an extension. The problem is that conservatories are often boiling when it's hot, and freezing when it's cold, but it is possible to make them suitable for all seasons. Some conservatories have low brick walls with glazing above, but if you'd prefer a garden room to a conservatory, you can have more brick walls and perhaps a tiled or semi-tiled roof, which makes it easier to insulate.

2. Conservatories are usually located at the back of the house, but if there's a sunny spot at the side, you may prefer to put yours there. Its position can make a big difference to how usable it is, so consider how the sun moves across the garden during the day. An east-facing conservatory will only get morning sun, while a west-facing one will be cooler in the morning and hotter in the afternoon and evening. Conservatories that face north may get angled sun first and last thing and so won't overheat on hot days, but they can be really cold. A south-facing conservatory makes the best sun trap and will get extremely hot when it's warm.

3. It is, of course, a shame to spend all that money on a conservatory and only be able to use it when the weather allows, so efficient heating and cooling systems are a must. Extending the central heating system into the conservatory may not be cheap, but powerful radiators are a good way to counter all that glass when it's cold. Underfloor heating can be an even better solution, as it provides a nice warm floor and an even warmth that radiates upwards. It's also ideal if there's little or no space for radiators. Blinds help to insulate a conservatory in winter, as well as keeping it cool in summer. They also provide privacy, reduce glare and should stop soft furnishings fading in the sun. Wall-to-ceiling conservatory blinds tend to be expensive, but can make a big difference to the usability of the room.

4. Like anything, there are different styles of conservatory, from more ornate period-style ones to plainer, more contemporary ones. UPVC conservatories are typically white or wood effect - they're relatively affordable and require little maintenance. Conservatories made of aluminium are really strong, durable and versatile, but expensive. Wooden conservatories are also expensive and require more maintenance than UPVC and aluminium, but they are natural and environmentally friendly (as long as the wood is sustainably sourced). The best conservatory is one that matches the period and style of your home so it doesn't look out of place.

5. You often don't require planning permission to put up a conservatory - adding one to a house is usually considered permitted development (PD), providing you comply with the PD rules and regulations. Visit tiny.cc/planningconservatory for what's allowed.

OPEN STUDIOS

Home is where the art is for duo

FOR most teenagers the few weeks before the summer holidays are also hectic with exam prep.

But imagine having to balance GCSE exam revision with running your own art exhibition.

For 16-year-old Hollie Cooper that's life as the youngest artist exhibiting at Cambridge Open Studios this year.

Hollie said: "I'm very excited to be taking part in Cambridge Open Studios although I never expected to be the youngest person to do it. I have always loved art and I already know that I want to work with art in some way for my career, whether that is by becoming an art teacher or a full time artist."

"I'm in the middle of my exams at the moment but my main aim is to pass enough so that I can study Level 3 Art and Design at Long Road Sixth Form College."

Growing up with a fellow artist in mum Kaela-Ann Cooper, it was natural for Hollie to follow in her footsteps and enter the art world.

Hollie relished the chance to show her own paintings, drawings and textiles after watching her mum take part in Cambridge

RACHAEL MCMENEMY
@rach_mc94CN

Open studios for the last six years.

Hollie said: "I have grown up in a house full of paintings and illustrations created by my mum, so art has always been a big part of my life. I would help mum set up her exhibition around our house for every Open Studios event and for the past couple of years I have been asking her when I can take part."

"My dad helped to build a studio in our garden so that mum and I have somewhere to work together."

Hollie will be displaying her collection of textiles, including handmade felt landscapes and mixed media works. Her mother is a painter and illustrator working mainly in acrylic painting, watercolour and pen and ink.

The work will be displayed at the mother-daughter duo's workshop at their home in Linton.

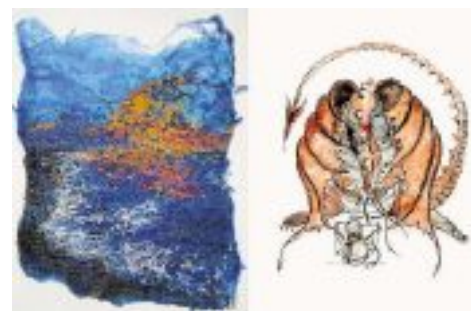

Kaela-Ann said: "I'm so proud of Hollie and the amazing work she is doing. She is very focused on her art and since learning about textiles in her art GCSE lessons at Linton Village College, she has really developed a passion for them."

"All she wants to do is study art all day, so she can't wait to go to college. I didn't realise there was no lower age limit for Cambridge Open Studios, but it is great news that she is the youngest ever participant. I think it will be a brilliant experience for her to meet new people and talk about her work."

The annual art event takes place during the first four weekends in July in locations around Cambridgeshire. Artists open their workshops to the public so visitors can see how and where their work is created and have a chance to speak to the artists.

Cambridge Open Studios will feature an exciting range of exhibitions by 350 artists at 221 locations in the city and surrounding areas. Among the huge range of specialisms will be fine art, photography, pottery, glass making, sculpture, illustration, textiles, jewellery and furniture making, and more besides.

GETAWAY

PAUL COLE gets a taste of paradise on the idyllic island of Jersey, a hotspot for Michelin star cuisine

MUST go down to the seas again, to the lonely sea and the sky... The Sea Fever snippet learned in dim distant schooldays comes back to me as I watch the waves crashing on the rocks just offshore.

The sky is a brilliant blue, the sun beating down, white horses crisply defined against the ocean's azure blue. It's a world away from the nine-to-five grind in Birmingham.

Only it's not. I'm kicking back, chilling with a chilled beer in hand, at a beach bar just 90 minutes from Brum. So how's it done, short of a Star Trek-style transporter?

Well, I'm sitting at Le Braye, an eatery on the west, wild Atlantic, coast of... Jersey.

The flight's about an hour, I have only cabin baggage and you can get through the island's airport in minutes.

Paradise found. Out to sea is one of the 30 Martello towers that have guarded the islands from invaders for centuries. Not always successfully, of course. There are still lingering signs of the German occupation of Jersey during the dark days of World War 2.

I wash down a crab sandwich with a glass of Liberation Ale, brewed to commemorate the day the Allies regained control of the island.

Just up the coast road is the Channel Islands Military Museum, which charts Jersey's wartime history through occupation memorabilia.

And 10 miles or so to the east can be found the Jersey War Tunnels, a maze of hospital corridors cut into the earth.

Hohlgangsanlage 8 was a partially completed hospital complex in St. Lawrence, built by the Germans. More than a kilometre of tunnels were finished. After the liberation, it was converted into a museum detailing the occupation.

But I'm not here to trace the island's wartime woes. I'm here to explore the island's burgeoning reputation as a culinary destination. This tiny island off the coast of France – just nine miles wide and four miles deep – boasts three Michelin-starred restaurants.

In the modest capital, St Helier, there's Ormer where Shaun Rankin holds court, and there's Steve Smith's Bohemia, at The Club Hotel & Spa. Both have fine dining reputations, but I'm drawn again by the sound of the sea, to Ocean at the Atlantic Hotel.

Sitting high above the west coast,

GOOD FOOD CHANNEL

Chef's special
Mark Jordan

the Atlantic has allowed talented chef Mark Jordan free rein to make the most of island produce. Amid the contemporary sea-salted shades of an elegant dining room, signature dishes include langoustine tails, served on a hot rock with oyster mayonnaise and ebène caviar.

That's one you may have seen on TV's Saturday Kitchen.

But I'm getting ahead of myself. And, as with any trip, the getting there is half the story.

After that beachside beer, I take the coast road north to Etacquerel, where Faulkner Fisheries perches precariously above the rocks and offers famous summer barbecues where you can dine on fish straight from the sea, looking over the golden sands of St Ouen's Bay.

I follow the mazy, narrow roads – stopping whenever the whim takes me. There's a viewpoint and café at Piemont Point, almost the most northerly tip of Jersey, and La Mare Wine Estate at St Mary offers tastings and local produce.

We wend our way around a loose circle, heading back to our base for the weekend, the Atlantic Hotel in Saint Brelade which sits on Le Mont de la Pulente – above that beach bar – with views out to sea on one side, and across an immaculate golf course on the other.

The hotel sits in six acres of grounds adjoining La Moye golf course and enjoys dramatic views over St Ouen's Bay – a conservation area of outstanding natural beauty.

Opened in 1970 and since refurbished and remodelled, it's a sleek three-storey hotel, with seaview room balconies reminiscent of those on a classic Cunard ship. Designers aimed for the crisp, clean feel of 1930s marine architecture – a style synonymous with luxury.

And they nailed it. In local family ownership since it opened, the Atlantic has gained a reputation as one of the top hotels in the British Isles, and is a member of Small Luxury Hotels of the World. When candidates on TV's The Apprentice deserved a treat, Sir Alan Sugar sent them here.

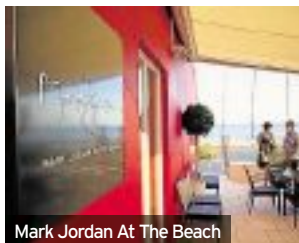

The grounds also host an outdoor pool and sun terrace, tennis courts and a health club. There are relaxing lounge areas, one opening out onto the terrace and pool, and a bar which offers bar meals.

Standard bedrooms are well-appointed – ask for an Ocean View room for full effect – with a king-size or two twin beds, white walls and elegant oak and satinwood furniture. There are a couple of chairs, a sofa and writing desk. Full-height sliding windows look out over the pool to the ocean beyond.

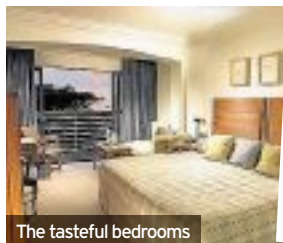

A marble en-suite bathroom boasts stylish Hans Grohe fittings and toiletries by Molton Brown. The room rate includes complimentary data port and wi-fi, satellite TV including sport and movies, combination safe,

The tasteful bedrooms

The Atlantic Hotel's landscaped grounds offer breathtaking views hairdryer, bathrobes and slippers.

The fruit bowl, refreshed daily, is a nice touch. There's mineral water, tea and coffee-making facilities, plus 24-hour room service with dishes from that Michelin star kitchen if you just want to chill out.

The Ocean Restaurant was awarded 'Best Dining Experience' and 'Best Champagne List' at the 2016 Condé Nast Johansens Awards. It has retained its coveted Michelin star for the tenth consecutive year, and the hotel boasts four red AA rosettes. Sister restaurant Mark Jordan at the Beach has the Michelin Bib Gourmand.

So what does it taste like? We opted for a seven-course tasting menu which weighs in at £85 a head, or £145 with matching wine flight. It may sound like pushing the boat out, but it's more than reasonable for a Michelin-starred restaurant. There's also a comprehensive wine list starting at around £32 a bottle and ranging up to £1,500 for a rare, revered Margaux.

Highlights were the duck prepared three ways, each offering a different texture; a crab and sweetcorn risotto in herb oil that was hot and rich; a perfectly cooked fillet of beef and a carefully balanced macaroon with goat's cheese which walked the tightrope between too sweet and too sour.

Jordan and his team know their stuff. The cheeseboard, to be honest, was unnecessary. You can have too much of a good thing.

Dress code is smart casual, meaning designer jeans are okay. If you want an even more informal setting, then try Mark Jordan At The Beach, just 15 minutes down the road at St Peter, near picture-postcard pretty St Aubin. Separated from the sands by just a wide footpath, it offers a series of set menus in addition to the à la carte.

We popped in for Sunday lunch, dining al fresco in a balmy sea breeze. I had a very impressive honey and five spice-roasted Gressingham duck breast, duck leg cannelloni, red cabbage, caramelised figs and vanilla jus (£23), while my wife enjoyed thyme-roasted lamb rump with caraway cabbage, root vegetables dauphinoise and tomato jus (£21.50).

Again, the prices weren't much more than you'd find at your local chain restaurant, yet the dishes had all the TLC that their Ocean Restaurant counterparts did. And here's a tip: order the nibbles while you're waiting. The truffle popcorn is a local institution!

So what's not to like? Good food and drink, sea views to die for and scenic roads. And all an hour and a half from the big city blues.

DON'T THINK TWICE:
 Barb Jungr is the definitive performer of Bob Dylan's music.
 'Every Grain of Sand'
 is at the Haverhill Arts
 Centre on Saturday, July
 15 at 8pm

IN 1599 Will Kemp, a comic actor in Shakespeare's company decided, for reasons best known to himself, to dance through God's Own Country (otherwise known as East Anglia) in an epic caper from London to Norwich. Tonight at the Haverhill Arts Centre, Ancestral Voices recreates Kemp's Jig through music of the period and readings from Kemp's journal at 7pm.

Next up is The Roy Orbison and Buddy Holly Show (July 6). Darren Paige and Marc Robinson are two dedicated blades who have devoted their careers to recreating the music of their musical heroes. Now, they join forces, backed by The Counterfeit Crickets band, for an uplifting show of all Roy and Buddy's hits. Get ready to hum along to Pretty Woman and Peggy Sue at 7.30pm. Tickets are selling well so book soon.

In a late addition to its printed brochure the arts centre has announced yet more greats for the Edinburgh Fringe Previews on Friday, July 7 and Friday, July 14. First up is Shappi Khorsandi's new show, with support from Kelly Convey (recently seen having a rather cringy time on an episode of First Dates). The following week Mark Steel, with support by Andrew Ryan, is set to appear. Please note that occasionally the line-up for comedy events changes at short notice.

On Sunday, July 9 the arts centre car park will play home to The Haverhill Historic Vehicle Rally. Experience the va-va-voom of vintage vehicles when more than 100 cars, lorries, vans, fire engines, military vehicles and buses are displayed. It takes place in the south car park between 10am-5pm, and admission is free. Don't miss the free vintage bus rides which will leave every 30 minutes between 1-4pm and if you need a refresher the centre's bar and café will be open for drinks and snacks. There will also be a selection of historic transport films running on the cinema screen.

Barb Jungr has wowed audiences and critics worldwide with her powerful reinterpretations of Bob Dylan's work. Known for her passionate singing, minimal and subtle arrangements, and great humour, Barb Jungr is the definitive performer of one of the great musical icons of the 20th century. 'Every Grain of Sand' is on Saturday, July 15 at 8pm.

Coming up is 'Angels in America' (Thursday, July 20 and Thursday, July 27); Andre Rieu's 2017 Maastricht Concerts (Saturday and Sunday, July 22-23 July) and Cardboard Carnival by Lempet Puppet Theatre on Tuesday, August 8 at 11am.

On to the silver screen and Jim Broadbent stars with Charlotte Rampling in The Sense of an Ending on Monday, July 3 at 1.30pm. His character, Tony, leads a quiet life but wouldn't you just know it, the peace ain't gonna last. The maelstrom in this instance is caused by a diary from his erstwhile best friend. The Sense of an Ending is based on the Julian Barnes novel of the same name. There is more literary source material for the second film of the week The Secret Scripture. Sebastian Barry's tale of a psychiatric patient's recollections stars Rooney Mara and Vanessa Redgrave and is more romantic than it sounds. Light relief can be found with Whisky Galore (Tuesday, July 11) and Going in Style on (Thursday, July 13 and Monday, July 17). The former is a remake of the classic Ealing Comedy and sees Eddie Izzard as Captain Waggett, the Home Guard officer. In the latter, Morgan Freeman, Michael Caine and Alan Arkin are a gang of geriatric bank robbers trying to right the world's wrongs.

Best-selling X-Trail is given 'robust' redesign

THE Nissan X-Trail is the world's best-selling SUV and, according to its maker, is being made even better with a robust redesign inside and out.

There's a higher-quality interior, additional practicality and innovative new technologies to make life on the road even safer.

It goes on sale in the UK in August and, along with other upgrades, will be available with ProPILOT autonomous drive technology which will control the steering, acceleration and braking in a single lane on highways during heavy traffic congestion and high-speed cruising.

Changes to exterior styling include the latest Nissan "V-motion" grille plus new headlamp clusters and fog lamps integrated into a restyled front bumper.

The biggest change to the profile of the new X-Trail is the addition of a chrome side moulding across the base of the two doors.

The X-Trail is often used as a workhorse and the boot on the new model is larger than before.

Capacity is up from 550 litres to 565 litres on the five-seat version with all seats in place while on those with seven-seat interiors luggage space is as before at 445 litres. Total space with all seats folded increases to 1,996 litres.

Other standard equipment includes cruise control with speed limiter, Bluetooth connectivity, manual air-conditioning, electric folding and heated door mirrors and alloy wheels.

The range of three engines for the latest X-Trail also remains, including the 2.0-litre 177PS diesel launched in 2016.

There is also a lower powered 1.6-litre 130PS diesel, a 1.6-litre petrol with 163PS on tap and the powertrain line-up includes six-speed manual or CVT XTronic automatic transmissions and two- or four-wheel drive systems.

Emissions range from 129 to 158g/km for the diesels and 145g/km for the petrol engine. That equates to a best fuel economy of 57.6mpg for the 1.6 diesel and 45.6mpg for the petrol version.

Prices for the latest X-Trail have yet to be announced but expect them to start at around £24,550.

Since its launch in 2000 more than 3.7 million of the vehicles have been sold worldwide.

THE Dacia Sandero hatchback 1.0 SSc Access 5dr has the lowest total cost of ownership at £7,419.64 or £206.10 per month, according to automotive data analysts cap hpi.

It is followed by the Sandero diesel hatchback 1.5 dCi Ambiance 5dr at £8,059 (£223.87 per month) and the Suzuki Celerio hatchback 1.0 SZZ 5dr with a total cost of ownership of £8,350.74 (£231.97 per month).

The analysis reveals the cars with the lowest motoring costs over the first three years.

In the family car sector, the Fiat Tipo petrol hatchback 1.4 Easy 5dr boasts the lowest TCO at £12,003.10 (£333.42 per month).

CLIMB: The Record Attempt WRX

Subaru special aims for the record books

THE WRX STI Type RA NBR Special is set to make its public debut and take on Goodwood's famous Hill Climb at the Festival of Speed next month.

The RA designation stands for "Record Attempt" and has been applied to various Subaru performance models.

The original venture took place in 1989 when a competition version Subaru Legacy broke the FIA World Speed Endurance record by clocking over 62,000 miles in 18 days and set a top speed of 138mph.

Now a race prepared WRX STI Type RA NBR Special will attempt a Nürburgring speed record this summer after it runs up the Goodwood Hill Climb in the Time Attack Open class and will be driven by rally and stunt driver Mark Higgins.

He recently drove a WRX STI down St Moritz's Olympic Bobsled run and set the lap record at the Isle of Man TT in 2016.

Subaru will also be at the Moving Motor Show with cars for visitors to try on the Hill Climb.

HERITAGE: A Land Rover emerges

Classic cars from Jaguar Land Rover

TRADITIONAL car making has come back to Britain's original motor city thanks to a huge investment by Jaguar Land Rover.

The company has formally opened a new £7 million Classic Works facility in Coventry to restore classic cars from both brands and create new versions of famous icons like the famed Lightweight E-Type.

Jaguar Land Rover Classic Works is an all-new 14,000 sq m purpose-built facility in Ryton-on-Dunsmore which sees ten countrywide operations spanning sales, servicing and restoration – all housed under one roof.

First look at the new 'grown-up' VW Polo

THESE are the first official pictures of the new Volkswagen Polo – the sixth generation of one of Britain's favourite small cars which will be on the road later this year.

Looking very grown up and similar to the latest Golf, the new Polo features a range of smart features including a state-of-the-art digital cockpit.

Some four inches longer than the current model and three inches wider. The latest Polo is a five-door only, roomier inside and has a boot capacity up 25 per cent to 351 litres – almost as much as the Golf and significantly more than the current Ford Fiesta.

From launch a high performance GTi version will be available, as will a Beats special with a 300-watt high-end sound system.

Initially, the new Polo will be offered with a choice of petrol engine – a 1.0-litre three-cylinder developing up to 115PS and VW's new 1.5 TSI Evo turbo which pumps out 150PS. The GTi is fitted with a 2.0-litre turbo with 200PS on tap.

There will be two 1.6-litre diesels with 80 and 95PS and the range will also be available with seven-speed DSG semi-automatic 'boxes as well as five- and six-speed manuals.

Not only is the new Polo smart and sophisticated in styling, but its interior is a class above the supermini norm with the debut of the second generation of Volkswagen's Active Info digital instrument panel.

Operated from a single switch on the steering wheel a variety of information can be scrolled through and it's backed up by a central display screen ranging from 6.5 to eight inches depending on grade.

Connectivity includes Android Auto, Apple CarPlay and MirrorLink compatibility and the car can be specified with a wireless phone charger.

Driver technology includes adaptive cruise control, pedestrian detection and automatic emergency braking, blind spot and rear traffic warning systems and automated parking.

SMART: The new Polo is longer and wider than the current model

Top-specification models will also feature full LED headlights and overall VW will be making the Polo available in 14 different body colours with 13 alternative interior finishes.

The Polo first arrived back in 1975 and has become a stalwart of the British car scene. Worldwide it has notched up an incredible 14 million sales.

UK prices for the new line-up are still to be announced but in Germany the car will cost from £12,975 euros which, at current levels, is under £11,500.

Mercedes adds all-terrain estate and cabriolet to E-Class

A CABRIOLET and an All-Terrain estate are being added to the Mercedes-Benz E-Class line-up.

The All-Terrain is a rugged load carrier with a starting price of £58,880.

It comes with standard 4MATIC all-wheel-drive, a nine-speed automatic gearbox and one efficient diesel engine, badged E 350 d.

For a large estate it delivers a claimed fuel economy of up to 41.5mpg and has a top speed of 155mph.

The E-Class Cabriolet, which is priced from £44,675, is a full four-seater, with a fabric roof that can be operated at speeds up to 31mph.

There are four engines available from launch: E 220 d; E 350 d 4MATIC; E 300; and E 400 4MATIC. The biggest seller is probably going to be the E 220 d which features a 2.0-litre diesel engine.

Team delight for Haverhill

HAVERHILL largely held the upper hand in team competitions.

The ladies' section started the ball rolling with a draw in a friendly against Bury St Edmunds.

Haverhill details: Chris Grainger and Marion Mercer won by 5 holes, Fiona Ives and Ann Waters lost by 2 holes, Gerry Wheatley and Pauline Calmet halved.

The seniors Beaumont Team, captained by Bob Hammett, recorded an exciting 2 up win over 72 holes at the Flempton club.

The Curry Cup side, captained by Andy Fish, narrowly lost at The Three Rivers 10.5-7.5, while the Hambro team, captained by Paul Bartlett, and Tolly team, led by Eamonn Bareham, both won at home.

The Hambro team fended off local rivals Newton Green by 12 holes over the 144 holes played, while the Tolly team saw off Felixstowe by 11 over 144 holes.

Siobhan Harrison came out top in the ladies' Midsummer Tankard, scoring 25 points in the 10-hole stableford in 2nd place was Norma Humphrey clinched second on countback from Ann Reed after both scored 20pts.

And there was a similarly tight finish in the ladies' midweek stableford where the top four players all finished on 37 points. Fiona Ives won on countback from Lyn Fish, Anne Reed and Denise Walker, but all four had their handicaps cut by one.

Ian Carter carded an excellent 42 points to win the men's midweek stableford, the Jamie Warner Estate Agent Challenge. He has also had his handicap trimmed by one.

Full results. Division One: 1 Ian Carter 42 pts, 2 Alastair Cocks on countback from Michael Warren, both 36. Division Two: 1 Martin Mansfield 41, 2 Frank Robinson 28, 3 Paul Morris 36. Division Three: 1 Dave Hedley 41, 2 David Burns 37, 3 Ian Andrews 35.

Suspension failure stops Sims

ALEXANDER Sims' bid to win the Paul Ricard 1,000km, the latest round of the Blancpain Endurance Cup, ended in disappointment.

The West Wratting driver (above) and team-mates Maxime Martin and Philipp Eng had to retire after 91 laps because their BMW M6 GT3 suffered suspension damage while leading.

It was a similar story for the region's other drivers at the French circuit. Newmarket's Oliver Jarvis was running third at one stage with co-drivers Guy Smith and Steven Kane, but their #7 Bentley Continental suffered fuel pressure problems and dropped out after five and a half hours. Their sister car, the #8 Bentley Continental, won.

And Saffron Walden's Tom Blomqvist, sharing a BMW with Markus Palttala and Bruno Spengler, retired after 111 laps because of two tyre failures.

Sims now heads to the US for the Six Hours of the Glen, the latest round of the IMSA WeatherTech SportsCar Championship at Watkins Glen.

Cricket

Ton-up Phillips mauls Maldon

HAVERHILL enjoyed a four-wicket win at Maldon, with Anthony Phillips scoring a well-crafted century in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One clash.

Maldon won the toss and chose to bat first, but Dan Pass' four-wicket haul restricted the hosts to 205 all out.

Haverhill suffered an early setback when they lost Pass, but Jamie Boulton (33) and Phillips laid the foundations for the rest of the innings.

At 96 for 4 the game was still in the balance, but Phillips continued to look solid at one end, and had excellent support from Will Bailey (13) and wicketkeeper Dave Humphrey (33 not out).

The 70-run partnership took Haverhill to the brink of victory, with Phillips' departure followed by Rob Dovaston (6 not out) hitting the winning runs with a maximum.

Skipper Adam Dellar said: "It was a good all-round team performance and one I felt we really deserved."

"The bowlers got us into a good position and Anthony's brilliant century got us over the line."

In Division Three, Haverhill II beat Long Melford by six wickets.

Long Melford posted 155 for 8, with Joey Kettle taking 4 for 37. Fine batting from Sam Hartshorn (75) and Marcus Richards (61) then helped Haverhill reach 159 with six wickets intact.

In Division Nine, Haverhill III scored a narrow 13-run win over Brockley II. Arvid Gundersen (56) and Greg Street (51) taking them to 142 all out before Tom Baker wrecked Brockley's innings with 6 for 30.

Football

THREE CHEERS: Mark Lawrenson (third right), the former Republic of Ireland international and TV pundit, with the Haverhill contingent at the awards

Rovers land FA awards

HAVERHILL Rovers' efforts to continue to grow football in the area have been recognised with three FA awards.

At a Football Association awards evening, Rovers picked up the Suffolk FA Chartered Standard Community Club of the year award before also receiving the South-East and Midlands FA Charter Community Club of the year.

To top off the evening, Jason Clarke also won the Suffolk FA Coach of the year award.

Peter Betts, the community football development officer at Rovers, said: "The big thing is that it is recognition of all the hard work done by our coaches, parents and volunteers who have contributed to this."

"To receive South-East and Midlands FA Charter Community Club of the year award in particular is very prestigious."

"It's the first time we have won either award, and it shows that the partnership between the community, Haverhill Rovers and Suffolk FA has been massively successful."

And the main reason behind the awards was the club's desire to increase participation across the board, as well as the facilities that they have at their disposal.

Betts said: "Unlike a lot of semi-professional teams at our level, whose primary focus is on the men's first team, we focus on everyone."

"It's a community club, you have to include everyone, and one thing we've done is increase participation and worked really close with Suffolk FA to create football festivals for both young girls and boys."

"We've also helped coaches with their development from their badges to CBR checks."

"If you look at the Haverhill Sports Associate (the site Haverhill Rovers academy train at), we're also training on some of the best facilities in the whole of the south-east."
